Association Approves Goals Despite Grumbling By Few

Members Air Gripes To County Personnel

The Lemon Grove Planning Association Executive Committee met last Thursday afternoon, and, despite a slim turnout, made a good deal of noise before approving goals for the community.

Representatives of the county were on hand at the meeting to listen to gripes by members of the committee about changes made by the county in the association's goals.

Some members of the group felt that the county had destroyed the intention of the goals by making changes. The county representatives, while admitting that there was some basis for criticizing the changes, explained that the changes were made to remove implementation aspects of the goals in order that the document be approved by the Board of Supervisors and Planning Commission.

It was felt that the goals, as submitted by the association, could not be approved due to recent changes in the outlook on implementation aspects in goals for community planning organizations.

The county then made the necessary changes which are expected to enable the goals to be passed. The goals must be passed in order for the association to formulate a community plan for Lemon Grove.

County representatives told the association that implementation aspects could be incorporated in the community plan.

With still some grumbling among a few members of the committee, the goals were passed. It is expected that the goals, which have taken two years to complete, will not be considered again by the association until they are incorporated into a community plan.

Goal consideration took up much of the meeting, and there was only a short time left for a presentation by Lemon Grove Sheriff's Substation Commander Barney Oldham.

Oldham told the association about better law enforcement offered by the Department's helicopter patrol program and urged the community's support of the project, which in only a short time has already resulted in prevention of crime and apprehension of suspected lawbreakers locally.

Oldham also told the association that Lemon Grove was fortunate in having a substation on Broadway and a patrol vehicle garage on Waite dr., as the results include better crime coverage for the town.

He explained that Lemon Grove gets a higher protection rate as deputies are sent out from and return to the substation and garage, leaving a periodic heavy concentration of law enforcement officers on Lemon Grove streets.

In other business, it was announced that a hearing before the Board of Supervisors on a proposed county service area to establish funds for a Lemon Grove park will be Tuesday or Wednesday.

The next meeting of the association will be at 7:30 p.m. March 8 in the Golden Avenue School auditrium. At the meeting, which is open to the public, land use designations and a land use map will be discussed.

Board To Consider Park Plan

The County Board of Supervisors will next week consider a proposed county service area which would make possible the construction of a six-acre park in Lemon Grove.

The matter will be before the board either Tuesday afternoon or Wednesday morning, according to Jerry Mann, executive assistant to second district Supervisor Dick Brown, who represents the Heartland area.

The board meets at 1600 Pacific Highway, Room 310, San Diego. Those interested in speaking for or against the park plan should contact Mann at 236-2261 Monday for the time schedule.

If the plan is approved by the supervisors, it is not known whether or not an election will be held to approve the park plan. The matter is unclear due to the recent passage of SB-90, the tax restructure measure.

he county service area, if formed, would provide matching funds with Department of Housing and Urban Development money which would be used to construct the six-acre park at Mt. Vernon and Massachusetts.

The service area would then remain in effect, although some changes would occur, to provide maintenance funds for the park, once constructed.

Property Tax Rate 'May or May Not' Rise

SAN DIEGO (CNA) — The County Board of Supervisors got some good news and some bad news from Chief Administrative Officer Fred J. Morey.

The good news was that Morey said he does not believe that an increase in the tax rate will be necessary for the coming fiscal year — 1973-74.

The bad news was that Morey also said he did not really know if this was a fact.

Morey said the budget for the coming year will be the most complicated and difficult the county has ever had to face.

He said there are more shifts in federal and state money supply systems than ever before in history.

A Federal Bill sets a limit of $2.5 billion on social service federal spending, and this includes the major item of welfare.

A State Bill tells counties that their top limit in taxation must be no higher than the tax rate for the past two years, whichever is higher.

The county budget was just under $300 million in this fiscal. Money raised by the general property tax levy was $92 million.

The county's assessed valuation is expected to rise about 10% to about $4 billion dollars.

However, with the somewhat usual 5% raise in salaries for 10,000 employees of the county, the assessed valuation increase will largely be used up.

Board OK's Small Car Smog Device

The Air Resources Board, meeting in San Francisco, last week, accredited an exhaust emissions control device for use on small 1966-70 model vehicles, including foreign cars.

This means that small cars such as Volkswagens, Datsuns, and Toyotas will have to have a device installed by April, 1974, or earlier, according to an installation schedule set by the board several months ago.

Devices had been approved only for engines of more than 140 cubic inches displacement prior to last week's meeting — and this excluded all small foreign cars.

The three devices approved are made by Dana Corporation, STP and Echlin Corporation. The STP device is the one accredited for small engines.

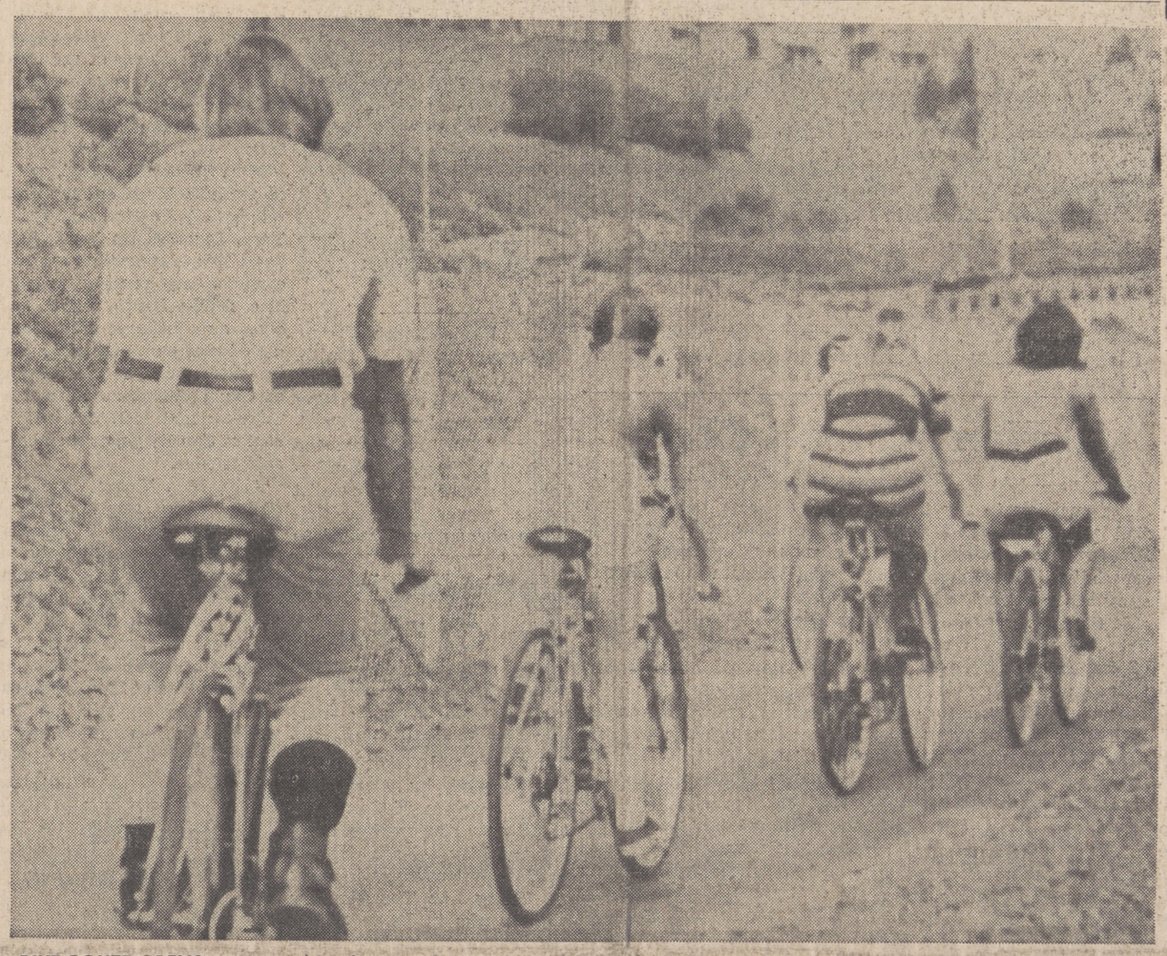
In another action, the board approved a fourth device for the larger cars, a device manufactured by Carter Carburetor.

Hazard Bid Lowest On S.V. Road Job

R. T. Hazard Contracting Co. submitted the lowest of three bids for correcting drainage and resurfacing a two mile section of Route 94 east of Spring Valley. The bid was $78,490.50.

Jacob Dekema, District Engineer, said excessive water flow from adjacent slopes has deteriorated the roadbed. The project calls for improving drainage facilities and reconstructing the damaged section of roadbed, near Jamacha blvd. east of Spring Valley and at Barrett Junction.

Bids are now under consideration by the Director of Public Works and if found to be satisfactory, work could be underway by the end of March.



BIKE ROUTE OPENS — A new bicycle route from Kelton rd. to Federal blvd. adjacent to Highway 94 was opened Monday by the Division of Highways, thus providing safe access to Lemon Grove from Kelton rd. for bicyclists. Previously, cycle riders enroute to Lemon Grove had to ride on the freeway. The new route is the first of several planned by the Division of Highways to provide access other than freeways for bikes. Bikes are permitted on the freeway in areas where no other reasonable access is offered. Removing the Kelton rd. to Federal blvd. stretch reduced the number of areas where bikes are permitted to six, mostly in the North County or desert areas.

Wise Philosopher

A wise philosopher recently said: "If off days resulting from holidays were to make government employees sick, state, county and federal buildings would be converted into hospitals."

Birth in a 'Bug'

A local auto dealer, John Factor, reported that a young Texas couple sent out a birth announcement recently designed around the picture of a Volkswagen.

The reason for using the "beetle" as a motif is that the baby was born in it — in the rear seat.

For years there have been jokes about the beetle and the things that cannot be done in one in relation to the reproductive cycle. But never jokes about births.

The birth-in-a-beetle idea intrigued the manufacturers so much they started keeping records. Then they started rewarding mothers for their thoughtfulness. Last year, Factor said, 29 women bore babies in beetles and each one of them was given a savings bond — beetle-sized, no doubt. One woman got two. She had twins! All such births are additionally rewarded with membership in the BBB (Babies Born in Beetles).

Incidentally, more California babies were born in "bugs" than those of any other state except Ohio.

There's no particular moral here except where class consciousness is suggested. In this case the family's Cadillac wouldn't start. So mama-to-immediately-be hopped into the family bug. But not soon enough.

When that Beetle Baby becomes an attractive young lady it may be embarrassing for her to answer the routine question: "where were you born?"

She could truthfully answer: "In a 'beetle,' but it would have been in a Cadillac — if the battery had been charged."

John Stull, the Choice for Senate

We endorse John Stull for the office of State Senator.

The election is Tuesday.

Stull, as Assemblyman, has conducted the public's business in a manner that leaves little for complaint. He has been strong for law enforcement, for the less fortunate, and for the overloaded taxpayer.

It is proper that he should seek the promotion to the post of Senator.

Some of his opponents accuse him of bringing about the expense of a special election by his decision to run—which he did.

But the election cost can be cut in half if voters cast more than 50% of their votes for Stull, thus eliminating a run-off election. His popularity is such that this seems probable.

Because Stull is the best qualified for the Senate post and because it would save taxpayer's money for the election, we suggest that you cast for Stull.

Drug Abuse Films To Be Screened

Grossmont College's Office of Community Services, in cooperation with the Santee-Lakeside Rotary, will observe Drug Abuse Week when they present a "Drug Understanding Program" scheduled for 11 a.m., today, Friday, Monday, and Tuesday, at the United Artists Theatre, Parkway Plaza, El Cajon.

Four films, produced by the Educational Division of Encyclopedia Britannica, will be screened during the four-day series. Films will include "Scag" (heroin), as seen through the eyes of a black girl from the ghetto and a white boy from suburbia; "Ups/Downs," the story of youth trapped on diet pills, speed and barbituates; "Weed", which examines the legal consequences of smoking marijuana and shows the results of tests of marijuana's effect on memory and judgment; and "Acid", a film that explores the unpredictable power of LSD "trips" both good and bad.

Authorities on the use of drugs will round out each program when they speak to the subject and answer questions. Scheduled to appear during the series is Lynn Failing, business manager of Satellite Christian Institute, Charles H. Williams, Grossmont College counselor and two physicians from the San Diego County Medical Society. Before joining the Satellite Christian Institute, Failing served as a drug counselor.

In addition to presenting the programs featuring both films and speakers, Grossmont will participate with DEFY, DANE and other drug oriented organizations in an exhibit on Parkway Plaza's mall offering literature and information on drugs.

The public is invited to attend the programs and learn the "cold" facts about "hard" drugs.

Parking Bans Get Nod From Lemon Grove CoC

The Lemon Grove Chamber of Commerce met last Thursday noon at Pal's Cafe and discussed the CoC-sponsored Old Time Days Carnival and approved plans to make several no-parking areas locally.

Jim Dorman reported to other chamber members that the contracts for the OTD Carnival, to be held at St. John of the Cross Church, has been signed.

The chamber will sponsor the carnival, now in its second year, one week prior to the annual Old Time Days Parade. As sponsor of the affair, the chamber offers booths to local service clubs and organizations for games of chance. Rides and games other than those sponsored by the chamber will also be included in the carnival.

Helen Myers, secretary for the chamber, announced that the County Traffic Engineer had contacted her requesting that she ask the chamber for approval of forming several no-parking areas in the town.

The first area would be on the east side of Imperial ave., from Golden ave. north for 150 feet. The no-parking status for the area was suggested to help eliminate a blind spot where school safety patrols stop traffic for youngsters crossing the street.

A problem has been caused in the past, as parked cars have obstructed the view of the safety patrol signs used to stop traffic.

The second area would be the west side of the same street, from Golden ave. south for 375 feet. There is presently no parking for 250 feet and the plan merely asks extension of an additional 125 feet.

The proposal would ease a situation caused by drive-up banking by customers of Southern California First National Bank. The problem has been that the drive-up customers are backed up in the right hand traffic lane on Friday afternoons.

By putting a no-parking zone, the customers would be able to line up without congesting the traffic lane. The parking ban would be effective only on Friday afternoons.

The third area to undergo the parking ban would be the east side of School lane a total of 645 feet south of Golden ave. The proposal is for an extension of existing red curbs in that area to give better view of traffic for vehicles entering School ln. from several parking lots.

The chamber approved the plan, which will be presented to the Board of Supervisors this month. The proposals were originally made by the California Highway Patrol's Accident Reduction Team in Lemon Grove and were approved by the Traffic Advisory Committee of the county.

If approved by supervisors, the parking bans would probably not become effective until after the first of April.

In discussing the Chamber of Commerce Installation Dinner, scheduled for March 17 at the VFW Hall, dinner chairman Bob Guest told the chamber that arrangements were complete for the affair, in which 1973 officers will take their seats.

Rita Wells told those in attendance that she was collecting items from local businesses to be used as door prizes.

Land Use Advisor Sent To La Mesa

Responding to the needs of East County residents with land development problems, the County Board of Supervisors established a new Citizen Planning Advisor Office in La Mesa.

Located in the Building Inspection Office at 8054 Allison ave., it will be staffed by Mary Roush, who has been transferred from the County Planning Department where she was an associate planner.

Ms. Roush will aid in the preparation of applications for land use matters requiring county approval and will be able to suggest alternative solutions. She will also assist people in organizing their zoning presentations and describe the procedures of the planning department.

Ms. Roush will also advise people wanting to oppose or support land use matters coming before the Zoning Administrator, Planning Commission, or Board of Supervisors.

Installation Tickets Ready at CoC Office

Tickets are available for the L.G. Chamber of Commerce's annual installation dinner, according to Bob Guest, dinner chairman.

The affair will be Saturday, March 17 at the VFW Hall, 2885 Imperial ave., Lemon Grove. Tickets are $5 for a catered meal supplied by Jac's. Al Couppee, KGTV sports director, will provide the program.

Couppee is controversial, lovable, knowledgeable. Tickets are available via the Chamber office at 3415 Imperial. Telephone 469-9621.

The schedule: Cocktails 6:30; Dinner, 7:30, Program and installation 8:30. The public is invited.

Flood Control Meeting To Draw Army Engineers

Residents of the Spring Valley area will get a chance to voice their views on a proposed flood control project at a "town meeting" to be held here Monday.

The meeting will be at 7:30 p.m. at Memory Lane Center, 9062 Memory lane, Spring Valley.

The meeting, open to all, will be conducted by the Spring Valley Citizens Flood Control Advisory Group, and will spotlight a potential $6.5 million federal project, still in the very early planning stages, to channelize Spring Valley Creek.

The creek has been a source of trouble to those living near it for many years. In rainy weather, the channel fills quickly and soon overflows onto streets and other adjoining property. In 1965 a brief but violent storm caused more than $94,000 in damages due to overflows.

At the town meeting, representatives of the County and the Army Corps of Engineers will be on hand to present the two alternative channel types being considered.

Both types of channel have their plusses and minuses. The first type is a concrete-lined rectangular-shaped channel. This option requires the smallest land area and is the

Learn Spanish The Easy Way

Hardison's Telespanish

The Spanish letter "i" is a unique sound for most beginners to pronounce. It is normally sounded like the double "e" in the English words "bee" and "tree." However, in forming the sound "ee" the lips are drawn back more tightly.

Simple words that use the Spanish letter "i" and contain the "ee" sound are "di" (I gave), "vi" (I saw), "mi" (my), "si" (yes), and "ni" (even or nor). We may convert these words to their phonetic sounds by saying "DEE" for "di," "VEE" for "vi," "MEE" for "mi," "SEE" for "si" and "NEE" for "ni."

"Di" may be used in expressions like "Di mi saco a el." (I gave my coat to him.), "Ayer di la medicina al hombre." (Yesterday I gave the medicine to the man.) and "Di dinero a la iglesia." (I gave money to the church.).

"Vi" is a past tense form and may be used in expressions like "Vi mi amigo ayer." (I saw my friend yesterday.), "Vi el juego de futbol." (I saw the football game.) and "Vi la televicion anoche." (I saw television last night.).

"Mi" is a possessive pronoun. It may be used in sentences like "Es mi cohe nuevo." (It is my new car.), "Tengo que hacer mi tarea." (I have to do my homework.) and "Ella es mi amiga." (She is my friend.).

"Ni" is a conjunction that may appear in phrases like "Ni pienso en eso." (I don't even think about that.) and "Tl no come no desea comer." (He doesn't eat nor does he want to eat.).

Gramatically "di" and "vi" may follow the pronoun "yo" (I). This permits us to say "Yo di" (I gave) and "Yo vi" (I saw) and in both cases we are placing an emphasis on "yo" (I). We can say "di" and "vi" without preceding them with the pronoun "yo" and convey the same meaning basically without emphasizing the subject "I."

Additional phrases containing words with double "e" sounds are listed below for your continued learning pleasure. You may enjoy practicing them with the aid of the phonetic guide appearing after each one or you may practice with the automatic recording that says them for you when you dial 276-2762.

IMPORTANT PHRASES:

Say "Di mi opinion ayer." (DEE MEE oh-peen-ee-OHN-ah-YEHR) for "I gave my opinion yesterday."

Say "Di dinero a la iglesia." (DEE dee-NEH-roh ah lah ee-GLEH-see-ah) for "I gave money to the church."

Say "Vi mi amigo anoche." (VEE mee ah-MEE-goh ah-NAH-cheh) for "I saw my friend last night."

Say "No le vi a usted." (noh leh VET ah oo-STEHD) for "I did not see you."

Say "Mi amigo es amable." (mee ah-MEE-goh ehs ah-MAHB-leh) for "My friend is kind."

Say "Usted es mi amigo." (oo-STEHD ehs mee ah-MEE-gh) for "You are my friend."

Glass Sculpting Exhibit

One of the country's few remaining masters of glass sculpting will present a showing of his work for the first time in San Diego, for a week starting Monday.

Herman Perlman, 67, who resides in Washington, D.C., will display some 50 delicately carved glass sculptures at the Temple Beth Israel, located at Third and Laurel. A champagne reception, to which the public is invited, will precede the showing in the Temple at 7:30 p.m.

Using a small sand blasting machine, Perlman "carves out" his designs in intaglio — the opposite of bas-relief — in the reverse side of thick slabs of glass. His three-dimensional creations are then viewed through the untouched side gives his works an eerie, translucent effect.

His work will be on display to the public free of charge daily from 7:30 p.m. to 10 p.m. Many of his sculptures will be on sale.

Proceeds from the $3 per person champagne reception will go towards establishing a Judaica art museum in the Laurel Street Temple.

First Pay-TV Starts Sunday in La Mesa

Pay television comes to the east county Saturday. Channel 100 will offer "The Gang Who Couldn't Shoot Straight" and "Skyjacked" twice daily to subscribers — all of whom are in the La Mesa area.

On Sunday, the San Diego Conquistadors game vs. the Virginia Squires will be telecast in color with veteran announcer Fred Lewis calling the play-by-play.

The subscription service is available to households covered by Mission Cable.

All sports, plays, concerts, ballets and operas will be shown during the coming year.

Control of the showings is a program selector installed on the TV set. A special card, supplied by Ch. 100 activates the selector which decodes scrambled TV signals through a photo-optic device.

A season ticket can be obtained for $6.50 a month.

FESTIVAL — Hildegarde Lange, left, shows some of her works to Vera Brooke in preparation for the March 4 Arts and Crafts Festival scheduled from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Sunday at the First United Methodist Church of La Mesa. Included in the affair will be a concert by the Classic Arts Ensemble at 2:30 p.m. and puppet shows at 9:30 and 11 a.m.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

I'm writing to say that I find the picture and article by Max Goodwin on page 4 especially displeasing. The story alone might be acceptable (it is humorous, of sorts) but the picture is certainly objectionable. More over, putting that picture on pages otherwise devoted to youth activities was in very poor taste. If that story and picure had to be run, a better choice of position could be found.

Lastly, there are many new businesses opening each year in Lemon Grove, and many of long standing still here, and I feel it unfair that Foxy Lady be singled out from all these for a story that takes up over 1/4 of a page.

I originally subscribed to the Lemon Grove Review to throw some support to the L.G. Youth Center. I feel you've done us all, including our youth, a disservice in running this story.

Sincerely,
Sandra G. Beel

Dear Editor:

Should the United States now give North Vietnam $2½ billion in reparations? No — not unless we are out of our cotton picking mind!

On the contrary, how about the United States receiving indemnity from the Russians and Chinese who furnished the arms and ammunition for North Vietnam to kill our boys.

Furthermore, we don't have the $2½ billion to pay anyone! We would have to borrow this money and pay 5¾% interest on it, thus increasing our taxes, inflation and future indebtedness. After all, we didn't invade South Vietnam like the North Vietnamese did. We only went to the rescue of a small beleaguered country, as we are obligated to do by the United Nations Southeast Asia Treaty.

Isn't it about time our State Department demanded reparation from Russia and China for the $200 billion and 365,000 casualties our commitment cost us to keep this brave little country free? The Russians and Chinese should now pay for the damage done to our country.

Sincerely,
C. C. Moseley,

Upgrading Is Aim Of Class For Therapists

A two-part course for experienced respiratory therapy technicians and therapists will be presented by Grossmont College's Office of Community Services starting this evening and May 3. Each class of the two-part course will meet at 7 p.m. on Thursday for eight weeks in Room 375 of the Science Technology Building.

According to Larry Cracium, class instructor, the course is designed to upgrade patient care, emphasize application of theoretical principles and serve as a review for those planning to take the respiratory therapist certification examination. The class will also upgrade patient care by challenging the student to think of respiratory therapy principles in on-the-job situations.

Cracium will use a question and answer format to maintain the interest of students with diverse experience backgrounds rather than using a standardized lecture technique.

A registration fee of $5 will be charged for each series. Registration may be completed at the first meeting of each series.

Community Conferences Planned By Councils

Community conferences have been scheduled this month by the citizens' advisory councils at Helix, Mt. Miguel, and Monte Vista High Schools.

The conferences, scheduled for March 10 at Monte Vista and Helix and March 24 at Mt. Miguel, will consist of from 100 to 150 persons invited by the councils.

Those persons not invited may attend, but must contact the school to reserve a seat.

The conferences, which have been adopted by all eight CAC's in the Grossmont Union High School District, are primarily designed to achieve input from various persons who live in communities served by each high school.

Suggestions, recommendations, and feelings of the community will then be considered by the CAC at each school as the council sets up its recommendations for the school.

The conferences can achieve or help achieve a variety of programs. In one district, for example a community conference eventually led to installation of stalls for showers in the girls physical education facilities. In another, a conference resulted in the employment of a music specialist for elementary students.

The community conference, as utilized by citizen advisory councils, are expected to be held annually at most schools. They serve as direction to the councils, which are perrenial programs, with elections held each year.

Under the citizen advisory council project, voters in a school attendance area select approximately 20 members. The council, after the election, may then add members, if it desires, to provide a balanced group.

For instance, most CAC's in the Grossmont District have added students to their ranks, indicating a feeling that students could bring a valuable insight into the school's problems and programs.

The CAC's, once formed, serve to advise the administration of the school, attempting to present community feelings. Actions can be initiated by the council or by the administration.

An example of action initiated by the council could be suggested changes regarding bus or food service. The administration may seek the council's advice, too, as in the case of considering whether the school should initiate a program, such as an additional sports program, if it would mandate cutbacks in other areas.

The action in the budding CAC program is part of a trend toward more local control of education as well as more citizen participation in schools.

PLANS TOLD—Mr. and Mrs. Jewett H. Shea, of 1621 Cameron dr., Lemon Grove, announce the engagement of their daughter, Sharon Elizabeth, to Randall C. Harrison, of La Mesa.

Miss Shea is a graduate of Grossmont College and Harrison attended Helix High School and is now employed with a chemical firm.

The wedding is scheduled July 21 at the Lemon Grove Congregational Church, 2770 Glebe rd., Lemon Grove.

Nigeria is now producing about two million barrels of petroleum a day with an annual income expected to reach $1.5 billion.

Free Medical Exams For Medi-Cal Minors

Free physical examinations for all Medi-Cal recipients under age 21 are now available at four locations in San Diego with more centers to be added later.

State Medi-Cal Director Dwight Geduldig urged parents to have their children checked under Medi-Screen, Medi-Cal's new program for the early detection of impending illness or physical defects.

"Serious physical handicaps and diseases can often be avoided or cured if found early enough," Geduldig declared. "Regular checkups will help keep children healthy. To be examined under Medi-Screen, Medi-Cal recipients need only show a current Medi-Cal ID card or a proof of eligibility label. There are no other restrictions, no other authorization required."

Medi-Screen testing includes complete physical examination, tests for vision and hearing, blood and urine analysis, immunizations, dental check-up and mental testing through the Denver Development Screening Test. Patients requiring further diagnosis or treatment will be referred to their own physicians or to appropriate specialists.

Medi-Screen is available in San Diego at the three clinics operated by Automated Medical Analysts, located at 142 W. Washington st., 2530 Imperial ave., and 12405 Rancho Bernardo rd. Appointments may be made for any of the three locations by calling 291-5000.

The San Diego Unified School District at 2716 Marcy ave. is als providing Medi-Screen services. The telephone number is 233-8951.

Civic Youth Orchestra Membership Boosted

"Membership in the Civic Youth Orchestra's society of friends has increased over 100% and we still have more than a week to go on the campaign," according to Robert Emile, director. "Of this increase, 74% are new memberships."

The principal thrust of the membership campaign was the mailing of an informative brochure about the Orchestra to a pre-selected list of 31,000.

Although membership in the Civic Youth Orchestra's society of friends ranges from $5 to $100, Emile reports that several donations have been received in larger amounts. One new category is for the purchase of musical instruments which are critically needed.

Although each musician must provide his own instrument, some cannot afford a fine instrument of solo quality. For example, an "A" clarinet costs $520, a piccolo is $240 and a string bass is $1700.

10 Year-Old Princess Sought

Farrell's Ice Cream Parlour Restaurants are looking for the "snappiest, sweetest, smiliingest, sunshiniest" ten year-old girl to reign over their tenth anniversary "Tencennial" celebration.

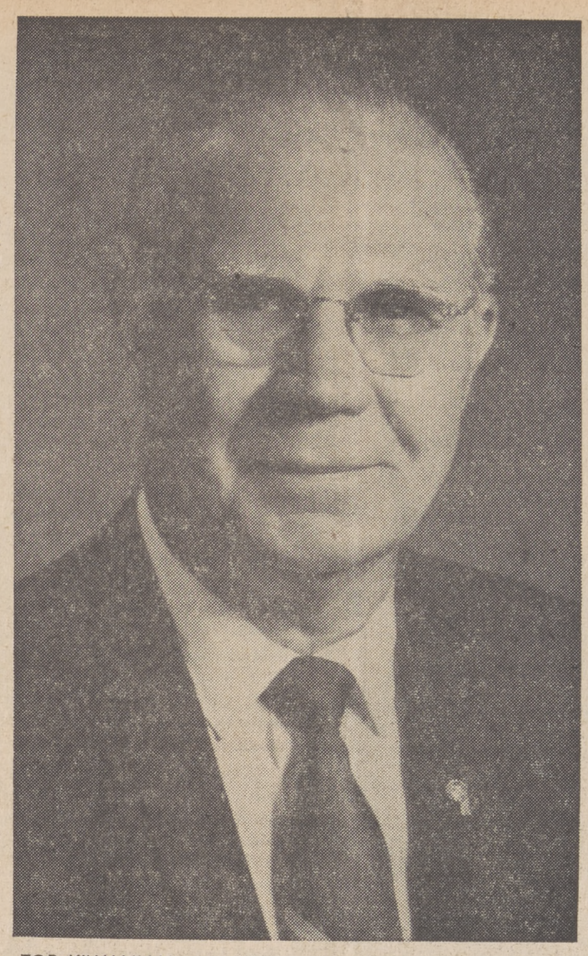
And when they find her, Farrell's "Little Miss Tencennial" will receive a giant trophy and a $1,000 U. S. Savings Bond.

Every one of Farrell's 6 San Diego County parlours will select their own "Little Miss Tencennial Princess" who will receive a plaque and a certificate for all the ice cream she can eat for a year, one day a month. The national "Little Miss Tencennial" will be chosen from among the 70 parlour "Princesses".

Entries are now being taken at every Farrell's from girls whose tenth birthday falls on or between September 14, 1972, and September 13, 1973.

The "Little Miss Tencennial" pageant takes place Feb. 1-28 and the national winners will be named in March. The affair marks the 11th anniversary of the founding of Farrell's.

The nearest Farrell's is 5304 Jackson dr., La Mesa.



TOP KIWANIAN — Lee Green, who has maintained a perfect attendance record since joining the Spring Valley Kikanis Club in 1969, has been named that organization's "Kiwanian of the Year" for 1972. A citation he received from the club noted his contributions to the community and his devotion to the Kiwanis Creed.

Lee M. Green Selected S.V. 'Kiwanian of Year'

Lee M. Green has been selected as Spring Valley Kiwanian of the year for 1972.

The citation from the Spring Valley Kiwanis Club relates the following: "For his unusual humane qualities, contributions to his community and the people with whom he associates as well as his devotion to the Kiwanis creed, Lee M. Green is hereby named Kiwanian of the Year by the Spring Valley Kiwanis Club."

Green joined the Spring Valley Kiwanis Club in 1969 and has maintained a perfect attendance record since. Green retired from his position of Fire Marshall for the 11th Naval District in November of 1968 after a career in fire protection dating back to 1920.

Starting in the Columbus, Ohio Fire Department, Green worked his way through the ranks performing important duties until he entered the U. S. Naval Reserve as a Lieutenant in 1943.

Until his release to inactive duty in November 1945, Green served in a number of important Naval Fire Control and Protection positions. In the process he had become a Californian and shortly after being released from active Naval duty he affiliated with the U. S. Naval Repair Base as Assistant Fire Chief.

He left that position in July 1946 to become Fire Marshall for the 11th Naval District in which position he served until his retirement in 1968.

Despite the long years of a demanding career, Green has continued to be active. He has served as president and presently as membership chairman of the National Association of Retired Federal Employees. He is currently serving as first vice president of the Spring Valley Chamber of Commerce.

Previous recipients of the Spring Valley Kiwanian of the Year award are Alex Struthers for 1971 and Dr. Thomas Webster for 1970.

Jrs. Seek Members

Lemon Grove Women's Club Juniors have invited young women interested in community service and becoming involved in the Lemon Grove-Spring Valley area to attend the next meeting March 12, at 8 p.m., in the home of Mrs. Rusell Chadick, 1642 Watwood dr., Lemon Grove.

Newcomers to the area will find the Junior membership an excellent way to make new friends, find out about the community, and have a hand in bettering it.

Throughout the year the Juniors provide numerous scholarships to deserving students, make donations of time, money and skills to the Heart Fund, Easter Seals, Walk for Mankind and others. Funds for the philantrophies are raised by putting on fashion shows, potlucks, bazaars and rummage sales.

Meetings are held twice monthly on Monday evenings, usually at the home of a member. Young women between the ages of 18 and 35 interested in finding out more about the Juniors are urged to attend or to contact Mrs. Russell Chadick at 460-4680.

Consumer Class Open to Public

Advice to purchasers of home furnishings will be given at the Helix Adult School Consumer Protection class Tuesday at 7 p.m. in room 204.

David Rothacher, general manager of home fashions for Sears, Roebuck will give suggestions as to how to accomplish the most satisfying results in buying furniture and related items without overstepping budgetary limitations.

Worker Protection

NEW YORK — Most American workers today are covered by workmen's compensation insurance, notes the Insurance Information Institute. Employers in 1968 paid $2.875 billion in premiums for this protection, designed to provide for the cost of medical care and weekly payments to injured employees or to dependents of persons killed in work-connected accidents.

Membership Drive On For SD Scout Council

Quality Scouting for boys in this area costs money, but the dividends are the 33,175 members who are getting a practical program of character development, citizenship training, and mental and physical fitness, according to Dr. Martin Williams, Executive Board Member and Sustaining Membership Enrollment Chairman.

He explained that the cost to bring the BSA program to boys in the San Diego County Council is shared by the boy himself, his unit, the organization that is chartered to use the program, and the local and national organization.

Williams explained that the boy pays a national membership fee, buys his own uniform, books, and equipment, and pays dues into his unit treasury — preferably earning the money for these personal expenses.

His troop or pack pays its way from the boys' weekly dues and money earned through approved projects.

Even the chartered organization, which owns the unit, is responsible for a meeting place, competent volunteer leadership who pay their own expenses, and other resources.

The San Diego County Council prepares an operating budget to serve the units, and funds come from United Community Services and the annual Sustaining Membership Enrollment among members, parents, and friends of Scouting.

Finally, Williams said, the national organization coordinates and stimulates the program nationally and develops program materials. These services are paid from membership fees and other income that is put back into the program.

The 1973 Sustaining Membership Enrollment was kicked off through the seven districts of the council during the Anniversary Month of February and will continue through the month of May. "We expect to enroll over 7,000 members this year," said Williams.

In 1972 San Diego County Council increased its total boy membership by over 10%, reached the goal in the National Boypower '76 program and now has the highest enrollment in the history of the council.

"This council is among the top 20 in the nation in percentage of boys attending long term camp and is nationally recognized as having one of the best year-round programs in the BSA," said Williams. "In 1972 one hundred and fifty-five boys attained the coveted rank of Eagle Scout." "Scouting is on the move in San Diego County and with a record like that we can't fail — everybody wants to join a winning team."

Walter A. Zitlau, President of San Diego Gas and Electric Company is Council President and John W. Ackermann is Scout Executive.

Will Shorter Fences Mend Losing Ways of SD Padres?

The Padres, ready to move up in the National League's 1973 pennant race, are moving in the fences.

The move requires approval by the City of San Diego. And such approval has been requested by the Padres from William MacFarlane, director property department.

E. J. Bavasi, club president, said that an eight-foot high wire fence, following the present contours of San Diego Stadium would be in place for the Padres opening game April 6.

It is expected that the new fence will retain the present distances of 330 feet at the foul lines in left and right field but will reduce home run distances to all other outfield areas.

Any ball hitting the Stadium's present 18-foot high wall would be a home run with the new playing dimensions.

"Every player in our lineup this season will be able to reach the new fence," Bavasi said. "And most will be able to reach the new home run areas with ease."

The Padres, with Nate Colbert leading the way, consistently have been among the leading home-run-hitting teams in baseball. But a majority of the club's homers have been hit on the road.

Of the 102 homers the Padres hit last season, only 44 were sent out of San Diego Stadium, with its 375-foot distance to the power zones in left and right and 420-feet to center, along with the 18-foot high wall that had to be negotiated as well.

In their four years, the Padres have hit 271 homers on the road and 198 at home. And of Colbert's 38 homers last season, second highest total in the majors, only 16 were viewed by San Diego fans.

Al Johnson, San Diego Stadium superintendent who will direct the installation of the new fence, expects that home run distances will be shortened by about two feet near the foul lines and possibly up to about 15 feet in straight center.

"The club recently conducted a survey among more than 20,000 fans and their major request was for more scoring at our games," Bavasi said. "With the new fence, that's exactly what we hope to provide."

Although injured for more than a month last season, outfielder Clarence Gaston's performance mirrors what the Padres hope to accomplish this year playing 81 home games in "new" surroundings.

Gaston drove in 31 runs and batted .301 in "smaller" parks but managed only 13 RBI's and a .235 batting average at home.

The closer fences should also assist the .300-hitting Leron Lee, sensational rookie Dave Roberts and infielders Dave Campbell and Derrel Thomas. And the club's promising young players — such as Mike Ivie, Randy Elliott, John Grubb and Dave Hilton — also will enjoy the more inviting home run territory.

As a team, the Padres were more effective offensively on the road last season, scoring on the average one more run per game than at home.

Bavasi also pointed out that the new dimensions should assist rather than detract from the performance of Padre pitchers.

"If we didn't have a strong pitching staff, I would not have made the change," Bavasi said. "Our pitchers are young and they throw hard. The shorter home run distances shouldn't bother them."

Strong on strikeouts, Padre pitchers ranked third in the National League last season in that department. And, of course, increased team scoring will be welcomed by all Padre pitchers.

Clay Kirby, as an example, won only three games while losing eight in San Diego Stadium last season despite a fine 2.99 earned run average there. Although Kirby's earned run average was higher (3.33) on the road, the talented right-hander won far more often, compiling a 9-6 road record for 1972.

Local PTA Notes

S.V. Elementary

The February Founder's Day meeting of the Spring Valley Elementary PTA, according to president Mrs. Effie Breidenstein, was highlighted by a presentation of the history of the American flag given by the USMC Flag Pageant Unit.

A representative from the La Mesa Junior Woman's Club invited all the S.V. Elementary students to participate in the Charlie Brown Mini-March, March 10 at 10 a.m., starting at the La Mesa Recreation Center. The students were urged to support "Kids for Concern Week" March 5 through 10, by earning money by doing helpful chores at home and bringing their nickels and dimes to the Mini-March Parade.

Jerry Mulherin, introduced by his mother, was the recipient of this year's Honorary Service Award for his outstanding work with youth groups at both junior high and the elementary school levels. Mulherin, who resides at 3263 Fairway dr., Brookside, with his wife and three children, has been a resident of the San Diego area since 1951.

He's been on the S.V. Elementary PTA Board since 1970 and has been carnival chairman for the past two years. A Marine veteran of six years service, Mulherin is active in Little League and has also worked with the Cub Scouts and the Boy Scouts since 1968.

Aztecs Name Gridiron Corps Of Coaches

San Diego State head football coach Claude Gilbert has named four new assistant coaches to his staff. Ernie Zampese remains on the staff.

Gilbert named Ken Madison as defensive line coach, Ollie Matson as offensive backfield coach, Ted Tollner as quarterback and receiver coach and Otto Kofler as offensive line coach. Zampese will continue to coach the defensive backs. Donnie Rea will continue to assist the defense as linebacker coach.

Madison, who played at San Diego State in 1964 and 1965 and who ex-coach Don Coryell called the "wildest of the wild", has been an assistant coach at Santa Ana College for the past five years.

"Ken Madison is Mr. Aztec. He epitomizes our defensive style of play. He's been a great winner as a player and as a coach. We are fortunate to have him back as an Aztec."

Matson is a former All-Pro player in the National Football League in 1952, 1955, 1956, 1957, 1958 and 1959. He was inducted into the Professional Football Hall of Fame in Canton, Ohio, last year.

Matson won a bronze medal in the Helsinki Olympics in 1952 in the 400 meters and a silver medal in the 1600 meter relay. He played professional football with the Chicago Cardinals, Philadelphia Eagles, Detroit Lions and Los Angeles Rams.

Tollner, 42, for the past two years has been head football coach at College of San Mateo. In 1971 his team was 9-1 and won the Golden Gate Conference Championship.

Kofler has been the offensive line coach at the University of Washington since 1969. In 1968 he was defensive line coach for the Huskies and freshman coach in 1967.

The new coaches replace Coryell, Rod Dowhower and Jim Hanifan who are with the St. Louis Cardinals.

All of Gilbert's new assistants will be in San Diego for the start of spring practice which opens April 2. The annual Red-Black Game is set for Aztec Bowl on May 12.

Geeno Moore Can't See Basket For The 'Trees'

Geeno the Affable Giant can't see the basket for the "trees".

There's no way that a man standing 6:9 can be labeled as midget, but Gene Moore, the San Dieg Conquistadors' center, sure feels like one.

"Man, they're getting bigger and bigger," said Moore with reference to his opposing ABA centers. "When I first came into this league (the 1968-69 season) I was considered to be a big guy. Now look . . . ," added Moore, with a wave at the ABA rosters.

"There are 9 players in this league as tall as I am, and twelve are taller." Not only that," continued the Big Q with the warm grin, "but there are five guys heavier than me, and maybe that will be news to the referees.

Somehow, Geeno the Affable Giant, gets the quick tweet from the whistle brigade.

"I admit that I'm no ballerina out there," said the 27-year old former St. Louis star, "but then most centers will never be accused of being gazelles. Hey! Our position is a blood path. It's no place for sissies. You get knocked around and you have to knock around a little in return. It's not dirty — just a matter of establishing physical superiority. You have to let the other guy know early in each game that you don't plan to be shoved around 'less he 'spects to get shoved back."

Moore isn't sure that the officials see it that way.

"Man, I get popped all over the place, and then when I go to pop back at these dudes, these refs play their little tweety song."

It may be pure coincidence, but the remaining nine starting centers in the league have averaged a mere 4.1 disualifications to Moore's 20 and they've been charged with an average of 179.8 violations during an average playing time of 24.5 minutes per game to Geeno's 274 violations in 27.8 minutes per action. Over 100 more foul calls in 400 fewer playing minutes.

"I've gotten so self conscious about red and white stripes (ref's shirt colors in the ABA) that when I pass a barber pole, I toss my hands in the air and shout 'it wasn't me' in self defense."

"Most of the officials do a great job — I don't know how they do it because I wouldn't want their job. They get it from everybody — players, coaches, trainers, fans, even little kids who can barely speak, have some ugly words for referees.

"There's no way that I'd take their job — I just wish they'd understand that you can't use the same contact calls on centers that you use on guards. Man, that's a butcher shop where we work, and if you restrict the centers, you're shutting down the whole game."

There's no question about the effect Moore's fouling-out has had on the first year Qs. Of the 20 games he has been blown out of, the Qs have lost 13, and eight of those came by an average of 3.3 points. The three losses the Qs have suffered in overtime (against two wins) came with Moore out of the game.

So, the need for Moore's playing has been vital to the Qs.

"I think I'm improving at trying to avoid foolish fouls," said Moore, the only San Diego player to have participated in every contest this season. "In my first four seasons, I averaged 24 minutes playing time per game. This season thus far, I've gotten it UP to 27.8 minutes of action.

"Maybe if I live long enough in that butcher shop, they may let me stay in the game long enough to help this team go somewhere."

TOP VAULT — Max Gabaldon, competing for the Grossmont College track team, won the pole vault in last week's Mission Conference relays, which served as a tune-up for the Mission Conference season. Gabaldon, who took honors with a 14-6 vault then missed at 15-6, will be one of the Griffin stars tomorrow afternoon when the local school hosts arch-rival Chaffey. Grossmont has been the dominant figure in the Mission Confernce for many years, but the Griffs will have their hands full with Chaffey this season. Last year, Grossmont claimed a single-point victory.

Nicholson Night Called by Gulls On March 30th

Al Nicholson, former star left-winger of the San Diego Gulls, will star again at the Sports Arena on Friday March 30.

That evening has been designated Al Nicholson Night by general manager Max McNab.

Nicholson was the first player signed by McNab as a result of in the original draft in 1966. He missed only one game, including playoffs, during his six years in a San Diego uniform.

He played for 17 years, 14 of those in the Western Hockey League. Prior to the start of this season Nicholson announced his retirement as a professional hockey player and joined the front office of the Gulls where he now labors selling advertising and working in group sales.

A model of consistency, he was under 20 goals only once, and that was early in his career. As a member of the Gulls, he played 463 of the 464 games the team played the first six seasons. He scored 157 goals in the a Gull uniform, second on the all-time player list. He had 198 assisting passes, third highest in San Diego hockey history.

The rest of the March 30 evening will be devoted to consideration of the Portland Buckaroos. The Gulls will face off with them at 8 p.m.

Soccer Champs Decided

Championship teams were decided on the Suburban Soccer League's last day of action last week, with two close races being decided on the final day.

In Division IV, the Rippers closed out the season with a tie to slip into a second place tie with the Cues, both teams three points behind the champion Rascals.

The Rippers had the only shot at catching the Rascals, who lost two weeks ago to bring the race for the top spot down to the last day. In order to share the crown, the Rippers needed to beat the Chargers and hope the Rascals would be upset by the Monarchs. Neither happened, and the Rippers had to settle for the second place tie.

In Division III, the Lions missed a bid at catching the rugged Atlas United team.

The final-day action was set up by the Lions two weeks ago when they handed Atlas its second loss of the season and drew to within two points of the league leaders.

A loss by Atlas and a victory by the Lions would have meant a tie for the title, but while the Lions won their final game, Atlas also collected a victory to seal the crown.

At the closest point, the United Kingdom is only 12 miles from France.

Matador Grapplers Distant Fourth

Monarchs Grab Ninth Straight C.I.F. Title For Spring Valley

Monte Vista came from behind to win its sixth CIF wrestling title over the weekend, while defending champion Mt. Miguel, despite a whirl-wind finish, ended up a distant fourth.

Monte Vista went into the CIF tournament second-seeded behind Orange Glen. Following the first four rounds of action Friday night, Monte Vista trailed the favorites by 2½ points, 33½ to 31.

At that point, Mt. Miguel, wrestling with a young but aggressive team, had but 14 points and only three wrestlers left in the tournament.

Semi-final rounds Saturday afternoon saw the demise of Orange Glen's title hopes, as defeats sent Orange Glen grapplers to the consolation bracket while Monte Vista sent six men into the championship finals. Orange Glen had but two men in the championship finals, who both collected individual titles.

Mt. Miguel's three-man crew got through the semi-finals, but little hope was held for the trio. John Siscon had been pinned previously by his finals foe, Monte Vistan Rusty Lockwood, and wasn't expected to win one for Mt. Miguel. Miguel Cesena had drawn previously with his opponent, Tom Varshock, also of Monte Vista. Dan Allen, although highly regarded, was not expected to be the best heavyweight in the county.

Monte Vista's six men turned out three individual titles to turn the championships into a runaway. Wearing CIF titles were Dave Broadwolf, Robbie Hudson, and Matt Taylor.

Had it not been for an upset, Monte Vista would have had four titlists.

The upset was in the first bout, as Mt. Miguel's John Siscon, who had been pinned in a previous meeting with Monte Vista star Rusty Lockwood, came out surprisingly strong and managed an 8-6 victory.

The next Monte Vista grappler was Dave Broadwolf, who edged Granite Hills star Rick Goward, 3-2. Tom Varshock was the next Monarch on the docket, wrestling with Miguel Cesena, of Mt. Miguel. Varshock, who had drawn with Cesena previously, couldn't handle the Matador this time, taking it on the chin, 4-1.

Gary Uyeda was next up for Monte Vista, but couldn't handle favored El Cajon grappler Robbie Viera, who won easily, 5-1.

The most exciting match of the evening was next as Monte Vistan Robbie Hudson took on Helix defending champion Chip Swanson. Hudson was also a defending CIF champ, but in a lower weight class.

Swanson, in prime shape for the bout, gave the Monarch everything he could handle, but Hudson was brilliant and collected a 9-6 victory.

A third Monte Vista title was claimed in the next bout, as Matt Taylor defeated Santana's Joe Whipple in another crowd-pleaser, 5-2. Taylor, defending champion, nevertheless was a mild surprise.

The last local wrestler in the finals was heavyweight Dan Allen, of Mt. Miguel, who battled for a pin but had to settle for a 13-5 victory.

The victory for Monte Vista marked the ninth straight year in which the CIF title has rested in Spring Valley — at either Mt. Miguel, winner of the last two titles, or Monte Vista, victor in three of the last five years.

Welterweights Join Ali-Norton Card

San Diego's history-making fight card at the Sports Arena March 31, has taken on an added dimension with the signing of Hedgemon Lewis, the No. 1 welterweight contender in the world.

Lewis has agreed to meet Mexico's number two welterweight, Ruben Vasquez, in a 10-round bout that will add luster to a card that already features the number one heavyweight contender, Muhammad Ali, and Ken Norton, San Diego's hopeful, who is rated seventh.

Sporting an excellent record of 47 wins against only four losses with 23 knockouts, Lewis is recognized in New York as the world champion after beating Billy Backus. Hedgemon lost a bid for the crown in 1971 when he was decisioned in 15 rounds by champion Jose Napoles.

Lewis is single and 27 years old. He was the National A.A.U. champ in 1965 and National Golden Gloves champion in 1964-66. He lives at Malibu where he owns a condominium. Lewis is a licensed real estate agent and works for a Los Angeles mortgage bank.

Matchmaker Mickey Davies says Vasquez can best be described as "being hard as nails." He holds knockout wins over Mexico's former lightweight champion, Raul Rodriguez, and former world-rated Arturo Lomeli. It was Vasquez who put an end to the unbeaten streak of San Diego welterweight Quincy Daniels. He stopped Daniels in four rounds in 1971 at Mexico City.

Tickets are now on sale for the March 31 battles. Lee Fruin gave this list of seats and prices:

1003 seats	$100
2500 seats	$50
4000 seats	$25
4000 seats	$15

Tickets in all sections are presently available and all seats are reserved.

Earlier this week Jimmy the Greek, Las Vegas odds-maker made Ali a 5-1 favorite over Norton. Fruin said it was the closest odds on Ali since before the Ali-Frazier fight.

elect a great Assemblyman to the State Senate -- 38th district

JOHN STULL

Special Election Tuesday March 6

As Assemblyman from San Diego County's Great 80th District, JOHN STULL has built a record of positive action unmatched in Sacramento! We need this type of leadership in the State Senate. We need somone who can get things done, someone who knows his way around, someone who will speak for us with experience, courage and determination.

We ask for your vote, not just because of what John has done for us in the past, but for what he can do for us in the future.

John Stull believes that law enforcement must be given the tools it needs to deal with today's problems — burglary, drug abuse, assault, car theft. He does not believe that the answer necessarily lies in simply passing more laws. Peace officers must be protected by both community respect and the knowledge that killing a peace officer is mandatory first degree murder. In keeping with the wishes of the people as expressed November 7, 1972, John will work to reinstate the death penalty for certain specified crimes, such as the killing of a peace officer.

John Stull believes that that only true way to reduce taxes is to reduce government spending. As a member of the Assembly Ways and Means Committee, John voted against unnecessary spending proposals and pet projects totaling $1.4 billion in 1972. As your State Senator, he will continue to oppose unwise, unsound spending proposals.

JOHN STULL has introduced major reform legislation affecting the University of California Board of Regents and continues to press for change. He led the opposition to the University's unwarranted purchase of $3.7 million worth of property in the La Jolla Farms area, leading to the subsequent selling of part of the land by the University. In 1968, Stull organized the Assembly and Senate opposition to the University's hiring of Marxist professor Herbert Marcuse's Communist protege, Angela Davis. He has been tireless and determined in his efforts to rid the campus of revolutionary forces, in spite of numerous attempts at intimidation, including the firebombing of his district office.

John Stull's abiding concern for children and the quality of their education in our public schools is best seen in his landmark legislation of 1971. The so-called "Stull Bill" for the first time requires local school boards to set educational goals for its certificated personnel, and then measure their competency in part on the basis of how well each child progresses in relation to his individual capabilities. This legislation is not "anti-teacher" — but it most definitely is "anti-incompetency." And it protects the majority of our certificated personnel, who are competent, by providing a means for identifying less satisfactory personnel and establishing a method for improvement among educators. The effects of this far-reaching legislation are beginning to be felt by a general upswing in the quality of education in California and many states have inquired as to how they too may follow in California's innovative footsteps with regard to evaluation of educators. As State Senator, John Stull will continue to make quality education his top priority.

Junior High Teacher Sets World Tour

Leonard Goulis, an instrumental music teacher at Spring Valley Junior High School, has been appointed teacher-counselor for Scholastic International's 1973 summer study-travel program for students entering the ninth grade and throughout the high school grades.

He is now getting together a group of students to travel for six weeks this summer. The tour is called "The Living World of Music". The students will attend music enrichment classes, travel, meet with international musicians, conductors, and other student musicians from different parts of the world. Attending major concerts from ancient to modern music will highlight the tour.

Students will spend their days in Rome, Venice, Vienna, Saltzburg, Paris, and London. They will live in campus dormatories or at hotels.

Goulis received a B.A. degree in music education from Arizona State University. In addition to teaching experience in grade school, junior high, and senior high school, Goulis has traveled extensively in Europe, Asia, and Africa while performing with the Air Force Band quartered at Wiesbaden, Germany.

There will be an informal meeting of interested parents and students tonight at 7:30 p.m. at the Spring Valley Junior High auditorium, where a tour film will be shown.

Goulis said that students are fully covered by insurance and that Scholastic International has carefully abided by the travel guidelines issued by the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare.

School District Gets Rebate On Insurance

The La Mesa-Spring Valley School District recently received a refund of a premium from the Prudential Insurance Company of America.

According to school officials the amount of the refund was $26,007, which will be distributed to the employees of the district who have contributed to the plan of insurance, with the school district retaining its portion to be deposited in its general fund.

The effect, according to the school district, will be to save the taxpayers money by using the refund for district expenses.

It is one of the first premium refunds received by any school district in San Diego County and was a result of favorable claims expenses on the Group, Life, Health and Dental insurance.

Faulwetter Runs Again For College Board Seat

William C. Faulwetter, 44, of 10986 Explorer pl., La Mesa, who describes himself as a needed commodity on the Grossmont College Board to help it retain it's objectivity, is a candidate for re-election to that board.

Faulwetter, a pratcicing attorney for a dozen years in the east county area, is married and has a daughter who currently attends Grossmont College. The April 17 election will be his first attempt at election since he first won the seat four years ago.

The Navy veteran has served as vice president of the board for the past two years and is a former Spring Valley Chamber of Commerce president and president of the board of directors of the Spring Valley Fire Protection District.

He has also served as president of the Foothills Bar Association, director of the La Mesa Chamber of Commerce and director of the La Mesa Rotary Club.

He has also been a member of the Zone 3 Commission, San Diego County Flood Control District, is a commander in the U. S. Naval Reserve, and is Commanding Officer of a local Naval Reserve Unit.

As a trustee, Faulwetter seeks to continue two trends.

First, he wants to help maintain standards of excellence within the limits of sound fiscal policy. The problem, he said, is increasing costs of education which are rising faster than the people's ability to pay. The result is continuous belt-tightening.

Secondly, he added, he wants to be a trustee for everyone; students, administration, faculty, and the tax-paying public. The role of trustee has had an image of being a position of fighting for education, he said. He looks at the pst as one responsible to more than just education.

Faulwetter has been criticized as being opposed to the construction of an auditorium for the college, as he cast the sole dissenting vote when the board approved in principle an agreement with the City of El Cajon to jointly construct and use an auditorium.

Faulwetter, however, defended his stand, indicating that he, too, is in favor of an auditorium for the college, but that he was opposed to committing the college to something until it's known "what we're in for and what we'll get for our money."

He wants to wait and see what the auditorium will amount to and consider arrangements regarding scheduling and maintenance costs before committing the district to an agreement.

Faulwetter also expressed his views on the second campus, indicating that he expects a need for the school, which will be located in Spring Valley.

In this area, too, he is careful abut getting too far ahead of the situation.

While an increase in population is expected to result from the proposed Rancho San Diego "new town" development in Spring Valley, there could be a question of doubt in the need for the second campus.

He cited problems which many developers are experiencing which could slow down or even stop the proposed development and also noted a decreasing growth rate in school enrollment, which could cast a question of doubt on the need for a second campus.

He emphasized that in all probability, the campus would be mandated by increased enrollment, and that it would be one of his goals as a trustee.

Relay Team Sweeps Events

Swimming only one day of the two-day San Diego Swim Association Relays, Feb. 18, the Carman Ranch girls relay team of Caroline Hart, Therese Zak, Charlene Savoie and Kathy Hart placed first in three relay events.

After taking the 200-yard breaststroke relay and the 200-yard medley relay, they missed a meet record by only three seconds. Particularly outstanding was a victory over the Coronado Navy team.

The Carman Ranch Swimming Association is open to non-members as well as members. All age groups are invited to try out for the team, which works out five nights per week at Carman Ranch Club, 8515 Sweetwater rd., Spring Valley.

Musicmakers Sweep Awards

Mt. Miguel High School musicians took nine superior, nine excellent and four good ratings at the City-County Music Educators' Solo and Ensemble Festival held at San Diego State University last week.

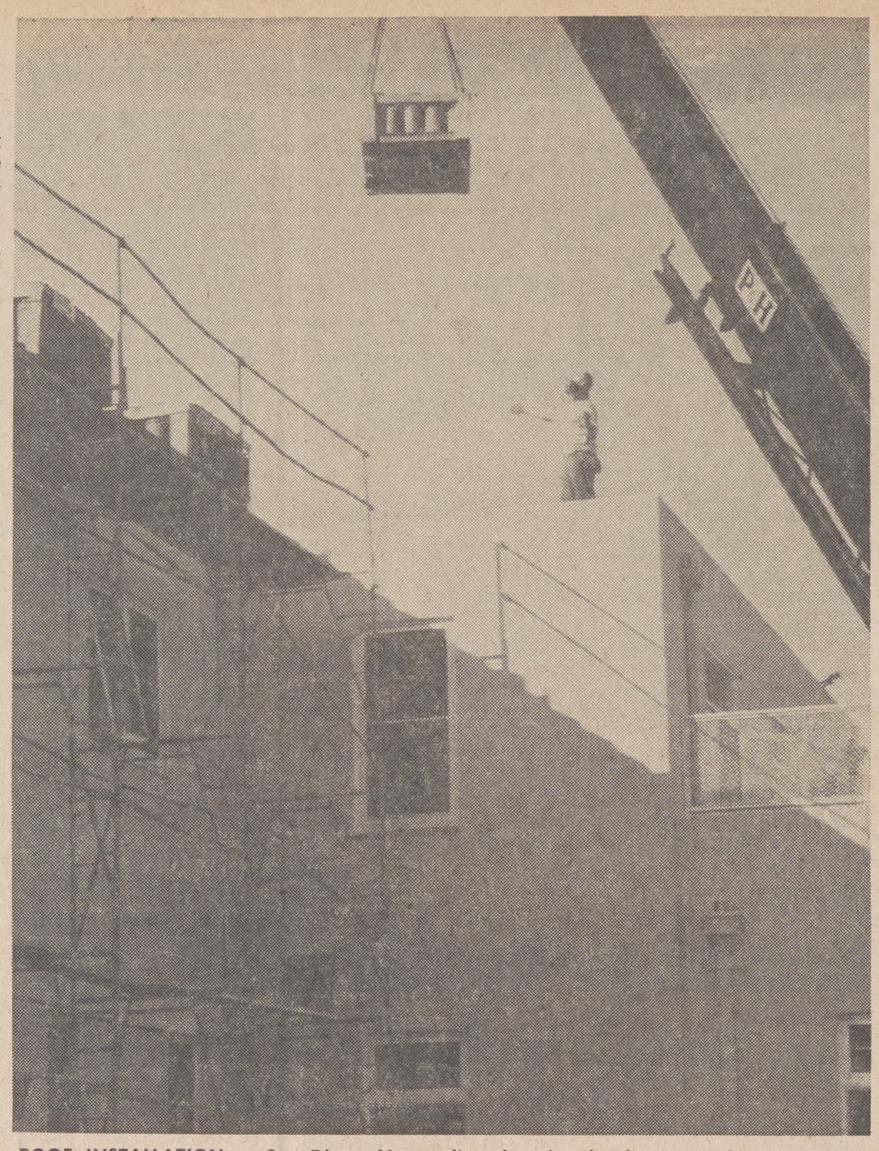
Superior awards, highest given in the two-day competition Friday and Saturday, went to Ron Oliveras, trumpet, Lee Wolfe, violin, Alayne Hoffman, English horn, Richard Wells, bass clarinet, Cindy Giberson, snare drum, and the trumpet trio, string orchestra, clarinet choir and saxophone quartet.

Excellent ratings were won by Carole Harris, clarinet, Bob Slaugh, trombone, Richard Suarez, drums, Kevin Steinberg, drums, and the string trio, two flute duets, the oboe and flute duet and the percussion ensemble.

Good awards went to Joe Lambert, violin, Marie Christman, flute, Alan Myers, baritone horn, and the trombone trio.

Mt. Miguel instrumental music department students are continuing their sale of tickets to their third annual spring concert, "A Double Feature," March 9 and 10. The two-day affair features the symphonic band and concert band, March 9, and the orchestra, wind ensemble and stage band, March 10.

The U. S. Postal Service will not issue eight stamps commemorating the American Revolution.



ROOF INSTALLATION — San Diego Navy Public Works Center roofers install Mission Tile roof at Marine Corps Recruit Dept. bldg. 12. PWC men have previously accomplished repairs to roofs of this kind but this is believed to be the first time the center has installed a complete tile roof. Lewis Medlin of 9202 Carthay cr., Spring Valley, headed the PWC roofing project.

Little League Can Drive Set

The Pepsi Cola Bottling Company of San Diego and the Reynolds Metals Company are joining with the county's Little Leagues in an aluminum can recycling drive.

Starting immediately, the Little Leaguers will be gathering cans to be redeemed at the Pepsi Plant April 28 between the hours of 8 a.m. and 2 p.m.

The Pepsi Cola Company will give an official aluminum bat to any league for each fifty pounds of recyclable aluminum cans they collect.

In addition, the league redeeming the most cans will be awarded a $500 cash prize. The second highest league will receive $300, third highest $100, and fourth, fifth and sixth, $50.

With approximately 25,000 San Diego County Youngsters participating in the program, the drive is expected to break all San Diego records for recyclable aluminum cans redeemed in a single day.

For additional information regarding the drive, leagues should contact their district administrator.

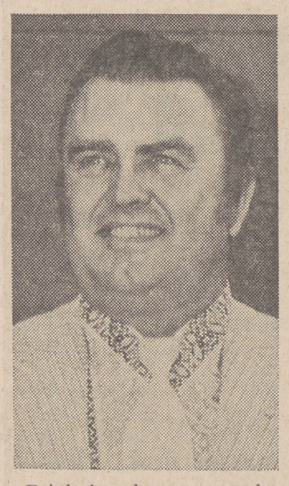
End To Double Sessions Eyed By Candidate Brink

William R. "Bill" Brink, 48, of Route 1, Box 1-A, Jamul, who said that the most important change needed in the Grossmont Union High School District is getting schools off double sessions, is a candidate for that district's board of governors.

Brink, owner of a real estate company, said that getting schools off double sessions could be accomplished by several means, including utilization of the 45-15 day year round school plan, expanding existing school facilities, and building new facilities.



Brink has been a member of the Jamul-Las Flores School Board for the last eight years and served as president of the board for six years. He said that there would be no conflicts in holding seats on both boards simultaneously.

His goals as a school board member, he said, include maintaining a high quality education for all students and getting the most for the tax dollar.

Changes needed in the high school district include, in addition to alleviating double sessions, a re-appraisal of the district's growth areas, and an expansion of the district's counseling activities.

Brink, who is married and the father of three sons, including two that Monte Vista High School, said that counselors are now terrifically overloaded and emphasized the need for better counseling, especially in the area of vocational education.

He cited vocational education, such as is offered on a limited basis in the district, as an area which needs expansion.

Another important area is keeping faith with the community, he said. He charged that the present board has let the community down in that area. "If you tell the people you need a certain amount of money to do a certain job, then the money, when approved by voters, should be spent for that purpose," he said.

He added that the school district has failed to do that, apparently referring to a bond issue passed in 1967. The school district used money from that issue to purchase property after originally planning to build a school with the funds.

Brink is a member of the San Diego Realty Board, the California Real Estate Association, and the National Association of Real Estate Boards.

In addition to his school board position, he has been active in civic affairs for many years, including work with the Old Mission Rotary Club, the El Cajon Boulevard Civic Association, Jamul Community Club, the Highway 94 Club, the YMCA and the Red Cross. He is presently chairman of the board of trustees of the Jamul Bible Church.

Meeting Spot Changed

The meeting place of the Spring Valley Historical Society, scheduled March 7, at 7:30 p.m., has been changed from the Spring Valley Elementary School to the Avondale Elementary School, 8401 Stansburry st., in south Spring Valley.

Owen Sound, Ontario, has repealed dry laws that had been in effect since 1906.

Epler Seeks Second College Board Term

Dr. Paul G. Epler, 45, of 864 Sycamore ln., El Cajon, who is looking forward to the orderly development of the second campus site for the Grossmont Community College District, is a candidate for re-election to that district's board of trustees.

Epler, who is an anesthesiologist who practices mostly at Alvarado Hospital, is completing his first term as a trustee.

For the board, he has served as the district representative to Region Nine of the California Junior College Association, as Region Nine representative to the state Board of Directors of Community Colleges, and was the college's representative to the board of directors of the community college section of the California School Boards Association.

Epler has served as the chairman of the church board at Vista La Mesa Church, where he, his wife, and four children have been active for several years. He is also a member of the Madison Avenue, Greenfield Jr. High and Granite Hills High School PTA's.

In his bid to retain his seat on the board, Epler wants to emphasize the role of the community college, which, he said, is often misunderstood.

"I think too often people have the impression that a community college is a glorified high school," he said, "but it has progressed much beyond that."

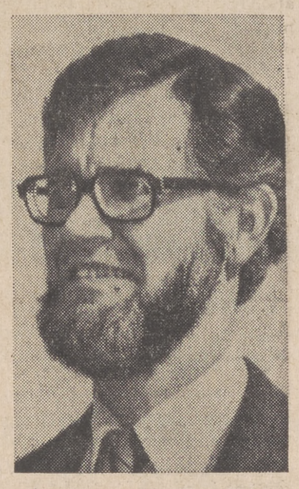
It offers not only the first two years of college for those who wish to pursue a degree, but it also offers career education opportunities, retraining for those who wish to upgrade their vocational education, personal development and enrichment classes, programs for senior citizens, and community service, he added.

Epler said that he was concerned with the plight of the taxpayer and getting the highest quality education for the smallest amount of money. He said that the college district is basically poor but that Grossmont College has done an excellent job and has been rated among the top community colleges in the nation.

Epler eyes the orderly development of the district's second campus site in Spring Valley but indicated that it should be brought along gradually.

The board has kept its eye on long range needs, he said, and has been effective in making plans for the second campus.

He added that the second campus would probably not open for at least five years and that the decrease in enrollment growth rate would probably give the board more time to plan the school.



Another area that Epler brought up was that of the college's plans to construct an auditorium jointly with the City of El Cajon.

He said that the college has been setting money aside for many years to construct an auditorium, but that costs are rising faster than the amount of money marked for the project.

When the City of El Cajon made a proposal to construct a facility with matching funds, to be located in El Cajon's "Super-block" plan, trustees considered the matter heavily and decided that it was the right time to make a commitment and work out the details for the project, Epler said.

Details of the project would be completed before entering into a contract, Epler said.

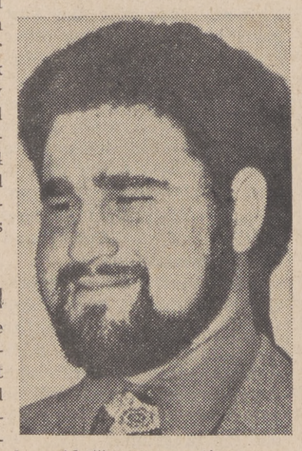
Harris Eyes High School Board Seat

Howard E. Harris, of 9345 Loren dr., La Mesa, is a candidate for the Grossmont Union High School District Board of Trustees.

Harris, a pre-law student at the Cal Western campus of United States International University, has based his campaign on a goal of mutual respect by the board and the students of the district.

Should he become a trustee, he said, he would set a schedule to meet with students of the district at the schools on a regular basis, thus making the board more closely related to the students.

"The only interest the students now have in the board," he said, "is a non-voting member who has little relationship to the majority of students."



He also promised to be aggressive in achieving tax restructure. He sees the trend toward more state and federal aid to education and less property tax funds.

As the trend continues, he said, local input will be needed and school boards will be turned to in the decision making process.

He sees the trend as a beneficial one to education and that it will make many programs more easily attained. It will also alleviate some of the bond election problems, he said, as more money is available for capital improvements.

The district, he added, has gotten itself in a bind over the Valhalla question, and he sees no easy way out. A bond election would most certainly fail, he said, and using operating tax money is unwise.

Although he expects contracts to be readied by the time the new board is seated in July, Harris has some definite ideas about resolving the question, if he were elected and the problem has not yet been solved.

If there were no other way to finance the construction of the school, which Harris sees as a necessity, then a special tax levy would be mandatory. Rather than levy a large tax for a short period of time, he added, the district should make a much smaller tax for the project over a longer period of time, so that those benefitting from the new school would also be paying for its construction.

Harris said he would make a good school board member because he is closer to the students of the district and can communicate the feelings of the students.

Iris Sankey Runs For State Senate on 'People's Program'

Iris Sankey, an attractive Escondido housewife, seeking the vacated senate seat in the 38th District, has a feminist point of view . . . but she's no woman's libber.

"But I would become the first woman senator the state ever had," she noted.

The mother of two, with a record of 9 year's service on the Escondido Parks, Recreation and Beautification Commission, she decries the unresponsiveness of government.

"Men tend to be rather unemotional in our legislative bodies at a time when the people need understanding from our lawmakers," she said.

Under the banner of "Because Iris Sankey cares . . .", she lists such issues as health care, taxes, environment, taxation and transportation as problem areas. "I'm a people-oriented candidate," she said. "I care."

She claims that one of her greatest assets is her ability to uncomplicate the wording of decisions arrived at by lawmaking committees. "I am able to simplify some of their pontifications into understandable language and pass it on to the public as understandable English," she said.

"As a longtime member (14 years) of the League of Women Voters, I have developed a set of vital issues after studying causes and effects astutely. I feel qualified to face all the issues that will be coming up during this generation.

"I will be a full time Senator," she said noting that a great number of lawyers and insurance people devote some of their time to their business and profession. "As a senator, unencumbered by any business interests, I will be able to devote all of my time to my state job."

Her "People's Program" would get her attention soon after she is seated in the Senate. "Right away I will seek funds for my "Neighborhood Park" plan under the no-increase-in-tax Bagley Conservation Fund."

Additionally, she would aid cities in securing federal matching funds for neighborhood parks and green belts; Require subdivision developers to dedicate open lands in all new developments; and Require cities or regions to develop master neighborhood park plans.

Assessor Mails 415,000 Exemption Claim Forms

County Assessor E. C. Williams got a load off his back this week.

The load is 415,000 property exemption and business property forms weighing more than 9 tons which was trucked to the Post Office.

The forms will aid many San Diego property owners in applying for property tax exemptions.

Included in the mailing are 325,000 Homeowners' Exemptions and 20,000 Veterans' Exemption claim forms as well as 20,000 Landlord Statements and 30,000 Business Statements.

For the Homeowner and the Veteran there is a $125-$250 savings on next year's taxes.

Recent legislation increased Homeowners' Exemption from $750 assessed valuation ($3,000 market value) to $1,750 assessed ($7,000 market) value. This exemption is for dwellings occupied by owners.

Business inventory exemptions are now 45% but full inventories must be reported.

Deadline for filing for exemptions is 5 p.m. April 16. Those who have questions may get answers via special phone number 233-5451.

Meter Men Discontiue Warnings

Under new procedures adopted by the Helix Water District Board of Directors during its regular meeting last week, meter servicemen no longer collect delinquent accounts on the customer's premises.

The action instructs the serviceman to shut off the meter, lock it and leave a notice in the meter box, rather than calling on the occupants of the house or place of business when accounts are long past due.

Such action will take place only after the third notice of non-payment of the bill. Payment and requests for reinstatement of service will have to be made at the Helix business office, 8111 University ave., La Mesa.

The board approved the recommendation of the general manager following an incident in which a serviceman was assaulted while attempting to warn a householder of impending shut-off of water service.

The Helix Board also approved a memorial resolution addressed to the family of Fred A. Heilbron, Chairman of the San Diego County Water Authority since its organization in 1944.

Heilbron, who died recently at age 95, had long been known as "Mr. Water" in San Diego County for his efforts in conserving local runoff water and in fighting for importation of water.

Helene Wickett To Debut With SD Symphony

Peter Eros will conduct the San Diego Symphony Orchestra in concerts tonight and tomorrow night, and will introduce beautiful young pianist Helene Wickett in her San Diego debut. The duplicate concerts will begin at 8 p.m. in Civic Theatre.

The Orchestra will perform Bernstein's Overture to "Candide", last played in April 1959; a first performance of Roy Harris' Symphony No. 3; and Debussy's La Mer, last performed in 1966 with Carlos Chavez. Miss Wickett will play the Beethoven Piano Concerto No. 1 in C major. In 1965, Arthur Fiedler conducted this work with Hiro Imamura as soloist.

April 5 and 6, conductor Robert Zeller and pianist Alexis Weissenberg will make their San Diego debuts. April 12 and 13, the San Diego Symphonic Chorale, under the direction of David Glismann, will join the Orchestra, Peter Eros conducting, in a performance of Dvorak's "Stabat Mater". May 17 and 18 concerts will be conducted by Mexico's musical genius Eduardo Mata with famed soprano Dorothy Kirsten as guest soloist.

Tickets for all concerts are available at Civic Theatre, Metro Ticket agencies, Highlander and Sears' stores. Students, military personnel and senior citizens may purchase remaining tickets for $1.50 one hour before performance.

Junior High Youngsters To Open Car Wash Sat.

Youngsters of the Lemon Grove Junior High school will have a car wash Saturday on the Bank of America parking lot at 3099 Imperial ave., in Lemon Grove.

Sponsoring the wash are about 30 youngsters associated with the Activities Committee of the Youth Information Center at the school.

The YIC gives information, counsels, and operates the school Job. Bank. Information regarding the car wash will be sent home to parents of all junior high youngsters, according to Kim Ostberg, of 3412 Jill lane, who is in charge of the project. Pam Rush, 6620 McArthur dr., the car wash director, said washes will be $1 and the project will be 9 a.m.-4 p.m. Pickup trucks will be $1.50; vans $2.

Proceeds from the wash will be used for a horseback outing for the entire school, Miss Ostberg said.

The Job Bank is still in need of jobs for energetic, dependable youngsters. They will do any type of work young teens can do — window washing, yard work, car washing, fence painting, house cleaning, and the like.

Those needing one or more of these sterling workers should call school secretary 469-4183.

Raid Nets Drugs

SAN DIEGO (CNA) — A Spring Valley man has been put on three years' probation following a raid for drugs on a house in San Diego.

Alan Donald Schmelzen, 24, of 2333 Sweetwater rd., pleaded guilty to possession of marijuana, has also been fined $1,000. A companion who came to the house carrying a sawed-off shotgun during the raid, must also spend 9 months in an honor camp.

The raid was conducted after two months' investigation. The house was reported to be the distribution center for sale of restricted, dangerous drugs.

Dr. Lowell Smith Named Staff Chief At E.C. Hospital

Dr. Lowell Ralph Smith has been elected Chief of Staff at El Cajon Valley Hospital, it was announced by Donald F. Zuercher, administrator. Also elected to serve one year terms are Dr. Roman John Kownacki, Vice Chief of Staff and Dr. William Edgar Murray, Secretary.

As Chief of Staff, Dr. Smith will be responsible for the coordination of all clinical services of the hospital, including medical, surgical, obstetrical and related specialty fields.

One of the founders of El Cajon Valley Hospital, Dr. Smith, a leading surgeon, has been an active member of the staff since 1960. Vice Chief of Staff Dr. Kownacki, also a surgeon, has been with El Cajon since 1965 and Dr. Murray, a leading internist, has served the hospital since 1966.

All three officers practice in El Cajon and soon will move their offices to the new El Cajon Medical Center, located adjacent to the hospital. El Cajon is a member hospital of American Medical International, Inc., a leading health care organization dedicated to better health care.

California Wines Top Foreign Vintages In Young Adult Tastings

A series of tastings to determine wine preferences for young adult groups indicates that — with labels hidden — California wines are preferred about 85 per cent of the time over foreign vintages costing twice as much.

The tastings, undertaken by the Wine Growers of California, reached over 34,000 participants at 591 tastings in 1972, for such groups as extracurricular clubs at colleges, ski clubs, groups interested in theatre, and many others. At each tasting, a representative of the host group supervises every facet of the event, including such things as purchasing the wines near the tasting sites, pouring the wines into marked glasses, and scoring.

Supervisors Order Full Use Of County Detoxification Center

The county-oriented alcoholism detoxification center at 1111 Island ave., San Diego, will immediately undergo a basic change in its operation and greatly expand its program.

The center was established by supervisors February 16, 1972 primarily as a rehabilitation measure to keep alcoholics out of jail and to introduce them into a program to recover from alcoholism. It operates as a part of the County's Health Care Agency, and under the supervision and direction of Dr. J. B. Askew, Public Health Director.

"The way the program has been operating is that when a policeman picks up a man simply for being drunk in a public place, he could bring the drunk to the Detox Center to sober up rather than taking him to County Jail. But the center didn't like building up a force of 'repeat customers'," Jack Walsh, Chairman of the Board of Supervisors, said.

"In other words," explained Supervisor Dick Brown, "if an alcoholic didn't become involved in some such program as Alcoholics Anonymous and if the police brought him back two or three times, the center would refuse to take him and he would be booked into jail."

Brown added that the cost to taxpayers of booking drunks in the jail was much higher than handling them at the detoxication center and "a lot less humane and constructive."

Walsh said the whole program was reviewed by County Health Care Administrator William Markey, Dr. Askew, Sheriff John Duffy, San Diego Police Chief Ray Hoobler, and John Lockwood, San Diego Deputy City Manager.

"All agreed that the detoxication should be fully utilized and only those intoxicated men suspected of being under the influence of drugs, or needing medical care, would bypass the center," Walsh said.

"This is the only alcohol detoxication center in the U. S. financed totally from local funds," Walsh said. He added that he will be recommending that the county add a similar program during the coming year to help meet the problems of alcoholic women.

Board Eyes Instructional T.V. Change

The Lemon Grove School District Board of Trustees met Monday night and adopted resolutions regarding a reduction in the certificated staff and directed Superintendent Robert Sutton to write a letter to County Superintendent of Schools regarding instructional television.

Trustees were told that the district presently pays 50 cents per student as a subscription to the county-operated instructional television service and that the county was considering levying a 1-cent or less areawide tax to fund the program.

Sutton told the board that the areawide tax would be less costly to Lemon Grove taxpayers and would also eliminate the "bootleg" system which has become evident.

Under the present system no districts other than those subscribing are supposed to pick up the signal, but apparently some districts have receivers even though they pay nothing. The areawide tax would eliminate that practice.

Trustees directed Sutton to write a letter in support of the plan.

Sutton also reported to the board that it would probably be necessary to cut back seven positions in the certificated staff because of reduced enrollment and the discontinuance of the pre-school program.

He also noted that, because of retirees and requests for leaves, it may not be necessary to lay off teachers who want to work next year.

Trustees directed Sutton to notify any teachers who may be laid off before the March 13 board meeting.

Regulations Regarding Off Road Vehicles Up For Publication

Secretary of the Interior Rogers C. B. Morton announced last week that draft regulations regarding the use of off-road vehicles on lands administered by the Department have been sent to the Fedral Register for publication. The draft regulations were prepared in response to an executive order by President Nixon.

Interested persons will have 30 days from publication to submit written comments which will be considered in the preparation of final regulations.

Morton said the closing date will be extended for submitting written comments on the draft environmental statement concerning the Department's implementation of the order. The availability notice of the draft statement was first published in the Federal Register on June 2, 1972.

Comment periods on the environmental statement and the regulations will run concurrently.

Proposed in the draft regulations are administrative procedures for designating where off-road vehicles may or may not be permitted on lands administered by the Bureau of Land Management, Bureau of Reclamation, Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife and National Park Service.

In addition, the draft regulations prescribe conditions which must be met if off-road vehicles are to be operated in areas open to them.

Flood Control Confab Due Monday Night

easiest to maintain, upkeep being a Flood Control District cost. On the other hand, this type of channel has come under fire from environmentalists for its unnatural appearance and because it can reduce ecological habitats.

The second type being considered is a wider, trapezoidal-shaped, earth bottom channel with riprap (stone) side slopes along part of its length. This could be more in line with current ecological trends, but the cost to the local taxpayer would be considerably more, due to the high cost of land.

If desired, either type channel could incorporate space for optional recreational features such as riding trails and bike paths. However, these extras would also be a local cost.

Following the formal presentations, the real "town-meeting" portion of the evening will get under way, with questions and comments submitted by the audience. The meeting's primary aim is to find out the preferences of local residents for channelizing the creek. The Citizens Advisory Group will use information gathered at the meeting in making recommendations to the County and the Army Engineers.
